

STATUS of NED Conductor Development

A. Devred^{a)}, T. Boutboul^{b)} and L. Oberli^{b)}

^{a)} CEA/Saclay, DSM/DAPNIA/SACM, 91191 Gif-sur-Yvette CEDEX, France

^{b)} CERN, AT/MCS, CH-1211 Geneva 23, Switzerland

Corresponding author's e-mail: arnaud.devred@iter.org

Abstract -This paper presents a brief review of the ongoing Nb₃Sn conductor R&D carried out within the framework of the Next European Dipole (NED) activity and reports on the manufacture of the first prototype of the largest Nb₃Sn Rutherford-type cable ever designed.

Manuscript received August 6, 2007; accepted in final form August 20, 2007; reference No. ST5, Category 5