Overwhelming Interest of Exhibitors

We are very pleased with the great interest of companies to attend the conference.

Today we have 29 confirmed exhibitors, and another 2 publishers, Elsevier and Springer, as well as the Cryogenics Society of America on board.

The floor plan and list of exhibitors can be found here:

Program Changes and Withdrawals to be communicated

Very soon we have to freeze the conference program and start printing the program booklet.

If you have submitted an abstract and for whatever reasons cannot attend the conference we would appreciate receiving a confirmation of the withdrawal of your abstract and presentation.

The sooner the better as this will allow us to minimize the number of last minute program changes.

Three courses are given on Monday July 7 for which you can register

Please register for the courses if you are interested, still a few places are available and participation is free of charge.
